Sheridan Titman is the director of the Energy Management and Innovation Center at the University of Texas–Austin and an expert in finance. His research interests include asset pricing, corporate finance, and real estate and energy finance. Titman has published widely in premier academic journals and is the author of three finance textbooks: Financial Markets and Corporate Strategy, Valuation: The Art and Science of Corporate Investment Decisions, and Financial Management: Principles and Applications. He is a past President of the American Finance Association.

The Distinguished Visiting Fellows Series is an initiative of the Institute for Outlier Research in Business. iORB is dedicated to altering traditional business thinking through research innovation.

For more information, please visit the iORB website.