Melbourne Business School

Melbourne Business School (MBS) is jointly established, owned and led by corporate Australia and the University of Melbourne. While the University of Melbourne offered its first MBA in Australia in 1963, the university has a history dating back to 1853. Now, it is one of the largest business schools in Asia Pacific and was ranked 34th in the world in 2021 by The Economist for its MBA program.

Located in Melbourne, in the suburb of Carlton, the Melbourne Business School offers a range of postgraduate management education and executive education development programs.

The school's primary function is the creation and transfer of management education and knowledge. Through the synergy of teaching, research and service, MBS contributes to the business, cultural, economic, and social well-being of its communities and constituents. The school offers a holistic educational experience to students and participants to better prepare them to assume leadership roles in organizations across sectors and across the world.

FACILITIES/HOUSING

MBS is a small campus, just a 10-minute walk from the Melbourne central business district and approximately 20 minutes from Tullamarine Airport. The school offers state-of-the-art lecture theatres; a dedicated management library and IT infrastructure (computing facilities, wireless network, etc.); and formal and informal areas for study such as the library, student syndicate rooms, the MBS café and a leafy central courtyard including barbecue facilities.

MBS exchange students have free access to the University of Melbourne Lincoln Square fitness center. Students may use shower facilities on the MBS Carlton Campus. The Student Lounge provides tea, coffee and chilled water, and soccer and table tennis tables for students to catch up and relax.
