Waseda Graduate School of Business and Finance

The Undergraduate School of Commerce was established at Waseda University in 1904. Almost half a century later, in 1951, the Graduate School of Commerce was founded. The School of Commerce is the oldest faculty of business and economics at any Japanese private university. In the more than 90 years since its establishment, the school has educated thousands of talented people who have become leaders in business, industry, politics and socio-cultural fields not only in Japan but also in many other parts of the world.

The school's mission is to create actionable management knowledge, to develop insightful leaders with global perspectives and to form a learning community. Since business and economic activities transcend national borders, the school promotes an international understanding through academic exchange programs and educates young people with a clear focus on international business. Waseda Business School also has an International MBA program and an MSc in Finance program, which are entirely taught in English.

The school is located in Tokyo, the business and political center of the world's third largest economy and a hub that connects to the rest of Asia. Tokyo is home to most of the Fortune 500 Japanese firms and most Japanese subsidiaries of Fortune 500 multinational firms.

FACILITIES/HOUSING

Waseda School of Business is located in Shinjuku-ku, a major commercial and administrative center in Tokyo.

Exchange students can apply for a space in the Waseda University International Dormitories (WID). These dormitories are offered exclusively to local and international students of the Waseda University. The Kyoritsu Maintenance, a housing agency, operated these WID. For more housing information can be found at <https://wasedalife.com/?lang=en>.

Some students choose to stay in private apartments, shared housing or with home-stay families. The Waseda University Student Housing Center also posts information on apartment and shared housing on its website <https://waseda-housingsupport.com/>.
